MISCELLANEOUS.

BOSTON

LAND COMPANY.

In compliance with a vote of the Stockholders of the Boston Land Company, a public sale of the last installment of the Capital Stock, amounting at its par value to $230 00, will take place at the Merchants' Exchange Reading Rooms, Old State House, on Wednesday, Jan. 29, 1873,

AT ONE O'CLOCK, P. M.

The Stock will be offered in lots of one hundred shares ($10 par value) and sold with the right to take any number of shares not exceeding two thousand. The conditions of payment to be twenty five per cent. cash at the time of sale; notes for twenty-five per cent. in four months, twenty-five per cent. in eight months, and twenty-five per cent. in twelve months, with interest at the rate of seven per cent. per annum. Stock to be deposited with the Treasurer as collateral security for the payment of the notes, which stock may be delivered from time to time pro rata with payment.

Although offering this stock to the public entirely on its merits, without any reserve whatever, the Directors find that a simple statement of the facts in relation to the Company, its property and plan of operation, is only necessary to satisfy the most captious as to its desirability as an investment.

The Capital Stock of the Company, estimated at its par value is $800,000 Divided into 80,000 Shares,

67,000 of which have been leased, leaving the balance to be disposed of—23,000 shares.

The aggregate area of landed property when the whole is consolidated is about FIFTY-FOUR MILLION SQUARE FEET, together with a large riparian interest in Boston Harbor, the value and extent of which are difficult to estimate, embracing a larger area of landed property than that of all the active land Companies in Boston and immediate vicinity combined. The great bulk of this vast tract, consisting of FORTY-SIX MILLIONS OF FEET, HAS BEEN PURCHASED AND PAID FOR, or guaranteed with ample security, with the exception of about $20,000, leaving still unsettled eight million square feet.

This great property has been purchased in several large tracts, by the acre, substantially at farming land price—or in other words, for what it was intrinsically worth, without reference to this comprehensive well organized plan for its immediate development as a consolidated estate.

The first cost of this great property thus purchased, including taxes, interests, surveys and the building time far of Ocean avenue—an important thoroughfare extending from the harbor through the centre of the estate to the Ocean at the Revere shore—amounts to a fraction short of six dollars a share.

Should the balance of this stock contrary to the expectations of the Directors, sell upon the day appointed at only the minimum valuation of six dollars per share, the Company will then own, free of any liability, this large estate, and have a cash surplus in the treasury of between forty and fifty thousand dollars. Should the sales average per—or ten dollars a share—the surplus will be carried up to nearly one hundred and fifty thousand dollars, leaving this company a solid basis unparalleled in the history of land companies. The management of the Company will be purely in the interest of the Stock, as a permanent and reliable investment, and such as years of successful experience has established as sure to secure good results to the holders of the stock and contribute in a large measure to the best interests of the community.

The stock of the Boston Land Co. at its par value of $10 per share, represents the land at a little less than one and one-half cents per square foot, and of this great area, thirty five million square feet, or nearly eight hundred acres, are within the city limits of Boston, averaged less than four miles in distance from State Street—the balance adjoining in the town of Revere, and all within a distance of six miles from State Street. The property possesses also a very extensive harbor and ocean frontage, and in its proximity to the centre of business, its beauty and healthfulness of location, presents advantages which render it capable of a rapid and very great development in value. Land adjoining this property not within the city limits, is valued at a very low estimate, at from ten to twenty cents per square foot, at which rates, stock in the Boston Land Co. would reach a valuation from $65 to $135 per share. To facilitate this development, to enable the managers to prosecute their plans energetically and successfully, the stock will be offered at this public sale.

DIRECTORS:

A. P. Blake, Edward Turner, G. D. Ashley, John A. Ivay, Chas. A. White, Jas. H. Collins, S. A. Bradbury, Chas. H. Coffin, John C. Webster, A. Churchill, J. C. Watson, R. A. Richards, E. P. White.

For further particulars apply at the Office of the Company, No. 102 State Street, between the hours of 12 and 2 daily.

TUESDAY, JANUARY 21, 1873.

Our friends will confer a favor, by sending us facts of any matter of local interest which may come to their knowledge.

Correspondence concerning matters of public interest will be inserted, but we do not hold ourselves responsible for opinions expressed in such communications. All manuscript must be accompanied by the name and address of the writer.

All articles for publication, should be addressed to the Editor of The Daily News.

VENTILATING.

We present our readers several communications to-day—on matters of importance to this community, principally among which, are opinions on the school committee question from among leading and representative men of the city. We are well satisfied that the people intend to heed the counsel of the News to "look before you leap" and the matter which is now the theme of public conversation, will doubtless by means of this public expression be thoroughly ventilated, and the people will shortly know "all about it."

EXPLANATORY.

The Providence Journal alludes to three misrepresentations during the late Presidential campaign, in connection with matters in Rhode Island. One of these was to the effect that the Newport Custom House employed an extravagant number of needless officers, in proof of which the amount of duties collected was compared with the expenses of the service. The writer of the article from which we quote, "rises to explain" quite thoroughly as follows: At Newport, as at many other ports of entry the custom house force is required, and the expense of maintaining it is incurred, more for the protection of the revenue than for the collection of the duties on goods lawfully imported and entered. There are many other such custom house establishments at exposed points, where comparatively little revenue is collected, but where there are great facilities for smuggling, as on the Canadian frontier and on the southern coast, where convenient inlets and a sparse population offer temptations to contraband trade. In some of these places there are scarcely any duties collected, and the maintenance of the custom house, which is altogether in the interest of the preventive service, is a direct charge on the treasury. To abolish these offices because they do not pay the cost of supporting them, would be like abolishing the revenue cutter for the same reason; or like abolishing the jails and the courts of criminal law because the fines and penalties did not pay the cost of maintaining the administration of justice.

The district of Newport, extending from Bristol to Block Island, and from Watch Hill to Tiverton, a distance of forty-three three miles by thirty, and including the east and west passages, on either side of Narragansett Bay, is a large and important one, and is peculiarly liable to invasion of the revenue laws. It is no uncommon thing for fifty or seventy-five vessels to anchor in Dutch Island harbor in a day, For the months of July, August and September, the number of vessels passing up the west passage has exceeced two thousand. Many of these were from foreign ports, and required to be boarded and inspected on their arrival. It frequently happens that the custom house force is insufficient to carry out the law for the protection of the revenue and one officer is compelled to take charge of more than one vessel at the same time; and officers not specially charged with that duty are detailed to perform it, for lack of those within whose province the duty falls.

From 1861 to 1864 a net amount of more than $16,000 was paid into the treasury, from seizures, fines and penalties, in the district of Newport, and in many cases where attempted smuggling did not go to the point of seizure or of fine, the revenue was protected from fraud. With the facilities that Narragansett Bay offers to smuggling, no one can estimate how much the government would be defrauded if the custom house force was limited to the number requisite for the collection of the revenue at the port of Newport.

LOCAL COMMUNICATIONS.

About That Petition, again.

Mr. Editor:—Nothing is easier in a fault finding man—than to assail an institution, system, committee or city government by wholesale charges or insinuations—to assert nothing that is specific or definite—and appear very wise, or to know all about the assaulted committee their system and its faults, which they would lead you to infer are "to numerous to mention"—I refer now especially to a communication in your paper of 20th inst purporting to be "About that Petition." The writer commences an assault on the School Committee and the school system by the general assertion "that there has been much dissatisfaction at the acts and doings of the school committee during the last five years, and up to the present time; and also the effect, or rather the want of good effect, of our whole school system, and the comparatively small results of the very large expenditure." Now all this sounds very fine, and one would naturally infer that the writer, was fully posted in the system in all its details,—and yet I venture to assert, 1st, That he cannot name the grades of schools—the course of study—number of scholars in school—percentage averaged by any one school, or in fact anything pertaining to the school system or its results. 2d, That he is just as fully informed on the subject of the general "dissatisfaction" which he asserts "cannot be kept out of sight and hearing." The writer then charges the committee with "Paying out money to destroy a good substantial high School House, which was well adapted to the wants of the city." I will now venture to assert that he knows no more about said school house than he does about the System —that he cannot tell how many rooms—size or the means of ventilation—how it was heated, if the cellar was damp or what were the means of ingress or of rapid egress in case of fire. He asserts that the "plan of congregating the largest number of scholars in one building, has we believe been considered a failure, rather than a success, wherever it has been found." Does the gentleman know anything about the schools in Newport? can he tell of the small school houses built and abandoned or moved so as to congregate "larger numbers of scholars" does the history of the Coddington School House from its dedication to the present time show anything like failure—twelve rooms are filled, and as to the chances, for accidents, as compared with that good substantial school house" which the committee "paid out money to destroy" well let any man of common sense say which are the greater,—The Coddington School House can be emptied of every scholar in three minutes—I think in two minutes,—the fires are at the extreme ends and every precaution is taken against the chance of fire, the stairs of which there are two setts are in the centre and are strongly built of hard pine and ash, there is a landing on each story and each half story, on each side of the building there are two doors one opening outwards and one opening inwards—the doors to each of the school rooms are three, one out of each dressing room, and one large double door in the centre, all which swing both ways, giving the freest egress—What has the fire of the 5th Ave. Hotel to do with the Coddington School House—the lives destroyed there were in a "Cock loft" with bars of iron over the only place of exit—where is the comparison between the two in the event of fire. Your correspondent also asserts that this building in very cold weather, cannot be comfortably warmed," can the smaller one's be comfortably warmed in cold weather? does he know how many very cold days the children are dismisse from the small schools because the school room cannot be comfortably warmed? I will venture to answer another of his questions, viz. "Cannot our Public Schools sufficiently educate our own children to be teachers, and why are we dependent on Mass. and other states, for the teachers of our more advanced schools and for superintendents of schools" simply because the city has such citizens as your correspondent, who are only active to destroy or clog every attempt to improve our schools and bring them up to the standard of Mass., to whom progress on the part of our school committee is a crime. Much he knows of the necessary qualifications for superintendent; let him put his finger on, or name the Newport man qualified for the position or if qualified will accept it.

I do not object to the petition in itself and think I would sign it, but if it is to be the means of foisting into place and power men of such anti-progressive sentiments as your correspondent, it had better remain as it is, at least that is the opinion of one who is

NOT A MEMBER OF THE SCHOOL COMMITTEE.

A "Leap" for the Right.

Mr. Editor:—In a communication in your issue of yesterday evidently written by some "sore head," the writer makes a savage attack upon our worthy and enterprising school committee and arraigns everybody in general and the committee in particular and takes his own stand point and vast wisdom to pass judgement upon his betters.—You will find this class of men in every community, who do nothing right themselves—unless it is by accident—and grow sour by finding fault with the best men in a community; men who give their lives and energies to the advancement of their fellow citizens and the best interest of the community in which they live. The Coddington School building is the devoted target in this instance at which this modern Solomon endeavors to level his mightier shafts in order to annihilate our school committee. Was there ever so much egotism crowded into so small a space before? Where can you find a true Newporter who does not look with honest pride upon this beautiful and perfect edifice, perfect in all its appointments and detail. Such a building as this has cost many another city three times as mu as this one cost us. Could this Solon have had his way, instead of this fine building, we should have had six by eight school houses, erected in every square in the City, shingled and whitewashed in the most approved manner, and a country school dame with a salary of fifty dollars a year would have completed this worthy idea of a model school system of the present day. He had better try again.

And now gentlemen of the School Committee, a word with you. Go ahead! Do just as you have done; turn neither to the right or to the left; do what you know will be to the best interests of the city and without fear or favor and depend upon it you will be supported by the community; and by all whose good opinion you would value, and in conclusion I would say in your future deliberations take a broad and comprehensive view of the situation. Be progressive and keep up with the age in which you live and in expending money, always remember the best is the cheapest; purchase nothing that is not just what is wanted, because, like the proverbial auction, it is cheap.

NEWPORT, R. I., Jan. 21, 1873.

That Petition Once More.

Mr. Editor:—I have been reading a communication in your yesterday's paper, advocating the proposed change in the mode of electing school committee men and others. As one who headed one of the petitions for the change, allow me to protest against your correspondent's reasons for it. If it had been presented to me on the ground he urges, I should have preferred to sign a petition on the other side. And if he represents the true spirit of the measure, I should like the privilege of appearing before a committee of the legislature to argue against it.

But I utterly deny that he correctly represents the petitioners. The proposed change rests on a broader basis than a squabble about a school house, or a petty hostility towards all who were not born in Newport. I know that many, at least of the petitioners, are influenced by other motives. For myself, I have been convinced, since the time I first entered the School Committee, that a popular election would be far better than the present system. The School Committee is now chosen, hastily and without discussion, by a body which is itself new to office and which, new and old has no special knowledge of the schools, and is appointed for wholly different duties.—I have long believed that if we could have a popular vote on the School Committee, we should have more new blood in it, from year to year; and also a larger proportion of liberally educated men.

I wish to speak with entire respect of the School Committee, with some of whom I have myself served. But I hereby think that we need a larger proportion of men who are themselves capable of examining the higher classes in the schools, and in part of superintending the Superintendent. I think that with a popular election we shall be more likely to get such men. This I say the more freely, because I have done my own full share of School Committee work and am not a candidate for nomination under the new system, if adopted.

These were the reasons which moved at least one signer to the petition. I hope the General Assembly will give up the new measure and will divide the School Committee into there classes;—one third to retire each year. As to the expediency of choosing the City Marshal and Street Superintendent by popular vote, I am not so sure and leave that to those better informed. But as to the choice of School Superintendent I dissent entirely from the petition, and think he should be chosen by the School Committee, for two reasons.

1st. He is in a manner their executive officer, and should be responsible to them only.

2d. While the other officers, who will usually be citizens of the town, he will usually have to be sought out of town. So far from there being, as your correspondent supposes, many men in town who are both able and willing to do his duties, the chances will always be that there will not be one. The reason is obvious; the well educated young men of Newport either leave town, or, if they remain, engage in some profession other than the superintendence of schools. You might as well vote to buy a steam fire engine and limit the competition to Newport, as attempt thus to limit the choice of a superintendent. It may sometimes happen that, as in case of Mr. Small, you can promote your High School Principal. But it will more often happen that, as in case of Mr. Tilton, you must advertise, correspond, have interviews with several different candidates, and finally close your bargain with a man without delay. While you are waiting for a popular election, some other city may outbid you and carry him off.

These are my reasons for believing that the school superintendent should not be elected by popular vote; but in regard to the school committee I unite heartily with the petition. T. W. H.

Light Wanted.

Mr. Editor:—I wish to enquire through the columns of the NEWS, why the lights on the north part of Farewell and Walnut streets, near the burial ground, are not lighted. It is hoped that whoever has the matter in charge will attend to it immediately.

TAX-PAYER.

[We printed an item a day or two ago to the effect that many city lights were out of order, and it is quite probable those referred to by our correspondent are among the number reported. We understand these matters will be attended to as soon as possible. E

Another Word on the High School Location.

Editor Daily News:—In my communication of yesterday, I omitted one very important item, and that is the very vital necessity of pure fresh air, and it should be well looked to that no large livery stable with its fifty or hundred horses be in the immediate neighborhood of the location of the Rogers High School, breathing its filth and pestilence. VERITAS.

Newport, Jan. 21, 1873.

INHUMANITY AT SEA.—The frequent occurrence of instances, where captains of ships, having run down smaller vessels, continue their voyage without staying to render assistance to save life or even to inquire concerning the damage done suggests the propriety of such conduct being made penal, and of rewards being offered to sailors who expose it. A flagrant instance was revealed the other day, on the landing at Falmouth of the crew of the schooner Donnan Castle, which at midnight, when sixteen miles off the Lizzard, was run into by an unknown steamer. The steamer cut right into the centre of the schooner, then backed out and steamed away, leaving the schooner in a sinking condition. The crew instantly left their rapidly sinking vessel in an open boat, without saving anything, and for twenty hours were exposed to a tremendous sea, lashed into fury by a South-West gale. The waves continually drenched them, and once two men were washed out of the boat, but happily another sea threw them near the boat again, and they were saved. The crew eventually all landed, but were in a most exhausted condition. The steamer's crew must have known that the Donnan Castle could not survive such damages and yet to evade detection, went on without attempting to rescue the crew. This is most discreditable, and we only hope that the name of the unknown steamer will soon come to be known.

HEALTH AND TALENT.—It is no exaggeration to say that health is a large ingredient in what the world calls talent. A man without it may be a giant in intellect, but his deeds will be the deeds of a dwarf. On the contrary, let him have a quick circulation, a good digestion, the bulk, thews and sinews of a man, and the alacrity, the unthinking confidence inspired by these, and, though having but a thimbleful of brains, he will either blunder upon success, or set failure at defiance. It is true, especially in this country, that the number of centaurs in every community—of men in whom heroic intellects are allied with bodily constitutions as tough as those of horses—is small; that, in general, a man has reason to think himself well off in the lottery of life if he draws the prize of a healthy stomach without a mind, or the prize of a fine intellect with a crazy stomach. But of the two, a weak mind in a Herculean frame is better than a giant mind in a crazy constitution. A pound of energy with an ounce of talent will achieve greater results than a pound of talent with an ounce of energy. The first requisite to success in life is to be a good animal. In any of the learned professions, a vigorous constitution is equal to at least fifty per cent. more brain. Wit, judgment, imagination, eloquence, all the qualities of the mind, attain thereby a force and splendor to which they could never approach without it. But intellect in a weak body is "like gold in a spent swimmer's pocket." A mechanic may have tools of the sharpest edge and highest polish; but what are these without a vigorous arm and hand? Of what use is it that your mind has become a vast granary of knowledge, if you have not strength to turn to the key?

Imitate (hic) my example," and here he laid a quarter on its nozzle and went on with a lighter heart and the satisfaction that he had made one poor soul happy.—Norwich Advertiser.

MISCELLANEOUS.

THIRTY YEARS IN PRISON.—Some thirty years ago, Thomas Thorn was convicted of murder, sentenced to death, and to hard labor in the State Prison at Thomaston, until the time of his execution. A few weeks ago he was pardoned. During a short interview with Mr. Rice, the Warden of the Maine State Prison, we were curious to find how he was impressed with the outside world after having been shut up from it nearly a whole generation. Mr. Rice says that although a man of 50 he was really in character and maturity of mind only a boy of fifteen. On his release the warden took him from Thomaston to Rockland, a distance of only four miles, in a buggy. As Thorn rode along his first impressions were that the distance between the two places was immense, and that the time occupied in the journey was very long. What to an everyday traveler would seem but a few rods, appeared to him miles. On reaching Rockland he stood up in the buggy and looked around in amazement. Before his imprisonment, thirty years ago, he had known it as a little village. He now saw it a city. "Is this Rockland?" said he, in his bewilderment; "Why, it looks just like New York." (When a boy he had been to New York on a coaster.) The citizens of Rockland made him up a purse of $50, and in his childlike glee he was telling everybody of his good fortune.

Seeing his imprudence, and that there were those around him that might relieve him of his treasure, Mrs. Rice warned him that he should say nothing about his money as there were thieves and pickpockets in the world now. "Oh, don't you be afraid Mrs. Rice," exclaimed the ex-prisoner, "I've travelled; I know a thing or two about the world. See here, I've money hid in this back pocket under my coat. Nobody would ever think of looking there for it." Thus he had unconsciously informed the bystanders, against whom the good warden's wife was cautioning him, just where his money was. It was Thorn's purpose to go to Whitehall, N. Y., where he has two nieces residing who were born after his imprisonment. Of late years they have corresponded with him, and kindly offered him a home with them. On parting with Mr. Rice to whom he was greatly attached, he promised that he would write him and let him and let him know how he was getting on out in the world. Mr. Rice accordingly expects to hear from him soon.—[Bangor Commercial.

HINTS TO THE FARMER.—Stop the cracks, and break off the wind this cold, wintry weather. It saves corn—your horses and cattle will come out in the spring stronger, healthier and fatter. Don't say that money is scarce—money will be saved thereby—take some old plank, go in debt for new plank if necessary, and with a few nails many cracks in the stable and cow house can be closed up. Your cattle will be more comfortable, and the food which would otherwise be required to keep out the wind by keeping up the animal heat, will go toward the production of bone and muscle.

So few farmers think of this, or remembering it, so many are slow to have it carried out—and then there are the leaks in farming plows, and other implements left out in the weather just where they were last used, or piled up on the outside of the barn to be injured, often to be destroyed by exposure. There are other leaks caused by the loss of time in getting ready for work, when the time comes for doing it—tools to be hunted for—to be mended possibly when found, instead of having them in place, and ready for use.

Then the great leak of mismanagement, more properly, want of thought, and the great evil of putting off work for to-morrow that should be commenced to-day, which invariably results in one's being left behind hand.

Remember it is much easier to kill a few weeds than a great many; easier to keep a crop clean than to clear it after it gets weedy; and in that, to wit, in being before hand in work, lies chiefly the success that falls to some people.

Farming, after all, depends not so much upon plodding as upon thought—upon intelligent thought—and acting at the right time upon well matured reflection.

Brain work is needed as well as physical effort, and the farmer now-a-days, who does so and simply because it has been done before, and who acts with reference to another course of procedure that may be better, will find himself of that class who do not truly say that with them farming is an unprofitable occupation.

Shaken Constitutions.

General debility, and the despondency by which it is invariably accompanied, are often regarded as the symptoms of incurable physical decay. Of persons thus afflicted, it is often said that their constitutions are undermined; thus they have nothing left to fall back upon; that they are hopeless cases. This, in at least eight instances out of ten, is a false conclusion. A constitution may be shaken without being undermined; and even if undermined may be propped and strengthened; and in many so-called hopeless cases there are reserves of vitality and latent vigor in the system that only require stimulating and developing to render them equal to the work of repair. The best and surest stimulant and invigorant that can be given as a remedy for decay of the vital powers, whether natural or casual, is Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. If the faltering physique can be roused into healthy activity by any human means, this regenerating vegetable cordial will accomplish that object. Its effect upon the appetite, the digestion, the nervous system, the secretive organs and the bowels is most salutary. It not only acts directly upon the solids and fluids of the body, but indirectly upon the constitution itself. Persons left by fever in such a deplorably helpless condition that it would seem as if they could never recover, may be completely built up,—it might almost be said, rebuilt—by this mighty, this well-nigh infallible, vegetable restorative. At this season of inclement winds and chilling damps the Bitters should be taken as a protective medicine. jan15-d&w

How Unnecessary the Anguish many persons undergo from rheumatism, gout, neuralgia, toothache and earache. We say unnecessary because the application of MEXICAN MUSTANG LINIMENT to the affected part, or a few drops of it in the ears or tooth, affords instantaneous, and what is better, permanent relief. For cuts, wounds, bruises, swellings, and all injuries or diseases, which require treatment externally, this liniment is everywhere regarded as the most potent and reliable healing agent in existence. For all external injuries or ailments of horses and cattle, it is infallible.

GENERAL NEWS.

FOREIGN INTELLIGENCE.

THE LONDON NEWS ON THE SAMANA ENTERPRISE.

The London News says of the lease of Samana Bay to an American company that it is not likely to give rise to any diplomatic complication, but the wholesomeness of this tendency to acquire territory beyond continental limits is doubtful. The United States present the spectacle of communities maintaining liberty and order by the exercise of absolute self government, therefore the Union is strong and respected.

THE FRAUDS ON EMIGRANTS TO AMERICA.

In the Rome chamber of deputies Signor Pissavino asked that measures be taken to prevent the cruel frauds practiced upon emigrants by American emigration companies. Minister Visconti replied that the government had its attention called to the deplorable occurrences which the honorable deputy sought to prevent and had measures under contemplation which it hoped would put a stop to them.

FROM WASHINGTON.

CONGRESS,

In the United States Senate, Monday, a considerable number of bills and resolutions were introduced. Two reports were received from the judiciary committee on the Boston relief bill; the majority being adverse and the minority favorable to the measure. Much new business was introduced in the House, also, but no important action was taken.

JANUARY BILLS 1873!

On the 2d day of January, 1873, the undersigned will present all bills for payment. These bills are fully due and a speedy payment is needed and hoped for.

A prevous notide fixed the rate of interest on unpaid bills of one per cent. per month, and having been publicly advertised becomes a contract to that effect.

Newport, Dec. 23, 1872. tn

CONSUMPTION CAN BE CURED.

SCHENCK'S PULMONIC SYRUP,
SCHENCK'S SEAWEED TONIC,
SCHENCK'S MANDRAKE PILLS,

Are the only medicines that will cure Pulmonary Consumption.

Sometimes medicines that will stop a cough will often occasion the death of the patient. It locks up the liver, stops the circulation of the blood; hemorrhage follows, and in fact, clogging the action of the urinary organs that caused the cough.

Liver complaint and dyspepsia are the causes of two-thirds of the cases of consumption. Many are now complaining with a dull pain in the side, the bowels sometimes costive and sometimes too loose, tongue coated, pain in the shoulder blade, feeling sometimes very restless, and other times drowsy; the food that is taken lies heavily on the stomach, accompanied by acidity and belching of wind. These symptoms usually originate from a disordered condition of the stomach or a torpid liver. Persons so affected, if they take one or two heavy colds, and if the cough in these cases be suddenly stopped, the lungs, liver and stomach clog, and remain torpid and inactive, and before the patient is aware of his situation, the lungs are a mass of sores, and ulcerated, and death is the inevitable result.

Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup is an expectorant which does not contain any opium, nor anything calculated to check a cough suddenly.

Schenck's Seaweed Tonic dissolves the food, mixes with the gastric juice of the stomach, digests easily, nourishes the system, and creates a healthy circulation of the blood. When the bowels are costive, skin sallow, and the patient is of a bililous habit, Schenck's Mandrake Pills are required.

These medicines are prepared by Dr. J. H. SCHENCK & SON, Northeast corner of Sixth and Arch streets, Philadelphia, Penn., and for sale by GEO. C. GOODWIN & CO., 38 Hanover street, Boston, and John F. Henry, 8 College place, New York, Wholesale Agents.

MISCELLANEOUS.

CARE OF LAMBS.—Sheep are the only farm stock that have retained or advanced their actual value in the market during the past year. It is therefore for the farmer's interest that he carefully watch his ewes and lambs at this season. Ewes need better care than wethers, and should be removed to pens where they could be looked after daily. As they near the hour of lambing, they should be again removed to a warm, dry pen and watched closely. If the lamb comes weakly, it should have a mouthful or two of warm milk, until it is active enough to suck. If it should become chilled, let it be removed at once, and warmed and fed until restored. But there will be few weak lambs if the ewes are fed previously with good clover hay, a few roots, and a handful of oats daily. No hogs should be permitted near a pen of lambs; and the tamer and more gentle the sheep have been made, the less danger there will be of the ewe resenting any interference either with herself or her lamb and disowning it in consequence.

The Congregationalist opens the new year with articles from some of the most eminent writers in the country. In the first number Rev. W. H. H. MURRAY furnishes the first of twelve articles from his pen. It is entitled "A Free Pulpit a Pulpit of Power." In the Sabbath School column Dr. TODD has comments every week on the Uniform Lessons, and thousands will regard these alone as worth the cost of the paper. Mrs. J. D. CHAPLIN, who interests alike all classes of readers, will furnish one of her popular sketches every month. A series of twelve articles from as many of the most distinguished clergymen in England, such as DEAN STANLEY and DR. BINNEY, will be commenced next week. REV. HORACE JAMES furnishes letters from abroad once in two weeks. An attractive Agricultural column is edited by JAMES F. C. HYDE. Besides our usual Children's Department we publish this year one or more articles every week in large type for the youngest. Our Washington letter every week, though only a column long is read with great interest and comes to seem like a familiar talk about events at the Capital. If you wish to know what is going on at the East, in New York, in the interior or at the West, take the Congregationalist. Our news department, both secular and religious and the literary page of the Congregationalist, are more full and complete than those of any other religious paper, and we aim to make the most interesting, attractive and valuable of religious journals for the family.

Every new subscriber gets a beautiful chromo and frame worth $5 at least. Send for a specimen number. Forty columns of reading matter a week. Price $3 a year. Sent to clergymen of any denomination, without Chromo, for $2.

Be deceived, but for coughs, colds, sore throat, hoarseness and bronchial difficulties, use only

WELLS' CARBOLIC TABLETS.

Worthless Imitations are on the market, but the only scientific preparation of Carbolic Acid for Lung diseases is when Chemically combined with other well known remedies, as in these TABLETS, and all parties are cautioned against using any other.

In all cases of irritation of the mucous membrane these TABLETS, should be freely used, their cleansing and healing properties are astonishing.

Be warned, never neglect a cold, it is easily cured in its incipient state, when it becomes chronic the cure is exceedingly difficult; use Wells' Carbolic Tablets as a specific.

THE GREAT SOUTH AMERICAN JURUBEBA BLOOD PURIFIER

is unequaled by any known remedy. It will eradicate, extirpate and thoroughly destroy all poisonous substances in the Blood and will effectually dispel all predisposition to bilious derangement.

Is there want of action in your Liver & Spleen? Unless relieved at once, the blood becomes impure by deleterious secretions, producing scrofulous or skin diseases, Blotches, Felons, Pustules, Canker, Pimples, &c. &c.

Have you a Dyspeptic Stomach? Unless digestion is promptly aided the system is debilitated with poverty of the Blood, Dropsical tendency, general Weakness and inertia.

Have you weakness of the Intestines? You are in danger of Chronic Diarrhœa or Inflammation of the Bowels.

Have you weakness of the Uterine or Urinary Organs? You are exposed to suffering in its most aggravated form.

Are you dejected, drowsy, dull, sluggish or depressed in spirits, with head ache, back ache, coated tongue and bad tasting mouth?

For a certain remedy for all of these diseases, weaknesses and troubles; for cleansing and purifying the vitiated blood and imparting vigor to all the vital forces; for building up and restoring the weakened constitution USE which is pronounced by the leading medical authorities of London and Paris "the most powerful tonic and alterative known to the medical world." This is no new and untried discovery but has been long used by the leading physicians of other countries with wonderful remedial results.

Don't Weaken and impair the digestive organs by cathartics and physics, they give only temporary relief—Indigestion, flatulency and dyspepsia with piles and kindred diseases are sure to follow their use.

Keep the blood pure and health is restored.
